We understand that some delay It is well for him that the cap was not down is occasioned by the difficulty of arranging the on its place when he sat in the window, as best mode of numbering. The law directs that Smith was but a few feet from him and would the numbers shall begin west and run to the have killed him. Upon examination it was eastward, which would bring so many large found that the fellow would run up the water numbers in the business part of the Avenue as spout, in the rear of the house, and throw himto be inconvenient to storekeepers, and expensive. Some idea is entertained to alter the law so as to divide the city into four parts, starting the numbers from the centre North South, East, and West. Whatever obstacles exist, if any, we hope will be speedily obviated, and the important work be done at the earliest day.

THE BOY AND THE PRESIDENT .- The Charleston Mercury garbles an article from the locals of the Star in regard to the Republican simplicity of a scene we described at the exhibiwered the questions "in a mild manner, de," the boy not being aware that he was lalking to the Chief Magistrate of the United States, whom the gentleman proved to be. The Mercury comments by saying. "in a mild man-ner-well, and why shouldn't ho? Does a man cease to be a gentleman when he becomes a President?" We say no, but such polite attention to small matters, such mixing in the crowd of his fellow-citizens, bike-one of them, as he of course only is, proves all our article aimed at, that is the "Republican simplicity" of our rulers, in contradistinction to those of all other countries. We might retort that an editor ceases to be a gentleman when he wilfully misrepresents another.

DEATH OF " AUNT BETSEY."-All Southern travellers knew Aunt Betsey, the obliging chamber-maid on several lines of steamers running to and from the South, with which she day-the "downward tendency" being very was connected for many years. She first was slow. Watermelons are appearing in the marattached to the Baltimore and Norfolk line, ket; they are very small, and the prices range we think, then passed to the line to which the ill-fated Pulaska belonged, to which boat she was chambermaid at the time of the loss of that steamer, but happened to stay home on that trip. For the last eighteen or nineteen years she has been acting in her humble ca-pacity on the mail line between Washington and Aquia Creek. People of Richmond, also remember the kind Aunt Betsey, the old tadu with the turban Ladies and children were always taken care of by her, many of whom recollect her increasing attention to their every want, in health and in sickness. Well, those who knew the good old creature, will regret her age, dying in the bosom of her friends who reside not far from the Capitol. Her proper name was Elizabeth Slater. An honest, faithful and simple hearted soul; she lived a good and useful life, in her lowly sphere, and now has gone to receive her reward-"Gone where the good darkey's go."

HUSBAND, WIFE, YOUNG LADY

LET FACTS SPEAK: BARRELVILLE, Alleghany co., Md. May 4th, 1852. To Mesers. Mortimer & Mowbray-Dear Sirsjustice to Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, I wish to inform you that I was taken sick on the 3d day of January last, with an affection of the stomach bowels, and kidneys. I was attended by four eminent physicians for more than two menths—all to or no effect. I had some knowledge of the great virtue in Hampton's Tincture, from one bottle which my wife had taken two years since. I came to the conclusion that I would take no more medicines from my physicians, but try the Tincture; and I am happy to inferm you that I had not taken it two days before I felt its powerful in fluence upon my stomach. I have continued using the Tineture, and am now able to leave my room, and can eat any common diet without much incom veniance or pressure on my stomach. The afflicted, or their triends are daily visiting me, to learn of the great virtue there is in the Tine

I expect to send you several certificates in a few days-one, especially, from a young lady who has been confined to her room for twelve mouths, with a disease of the head, affecting the brain.
